

PATH FOR WORDS

AVAILABLE SEPTEMBER 9, 2025

BY MARIE MARTINEZ,
Pediatric Speech Language Pathologist
and Pediatric Behavior Analyst

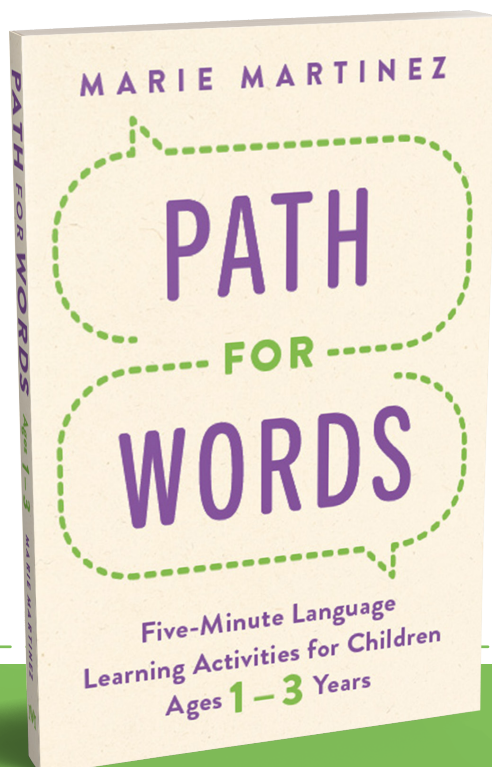

ABOUT THE BOOK

Path for Words is designed as a tool for families to turn everyday activities into language learning opportunities. Use this resource to learn about communication milestones for your child and how to build on their strengths. This resource can be used to support your child's communication journey before early intervention services begin. The strategies and supports described in this book are designed to be incorporated into your busy day. The toddler years are busy and full of language learning opportunities. Enjoy your child's path for words by experiencing your impact on their language development.

Marie provides families with additional resources and programs and shares research to help them explore the evidence behind the strategies included within the activities described. Path for Words includes a series of practical activities that can accompany a caregiver on their parenting journey, building on the strengths of their individual child where they are on their communication journey.

MEET THE AUTHOR

MARIE MARTINEZ is a dually certified professional in behavior analysis and pediatric speech-language pathology, with extensive clinical experience. As one of the few experts in both fields, Marie has contributed to research on parent coaching, asynchronous family supports, and family outreach. An invited presenter, she frequently shares insights on integrating speech and language strategies with early childhood best practices. In addition to her clinical work, Marie serves as the professional development manager for the American Speech-Language and Hearing Telepractice Special Interest Group, advancing the field of telepractice. Marie is also the founder of the Path for Words program, which supports caregivers in creating speech and language opportunities for their children's development. Passionate about supporting families, Marie combines academic expertise with practical experience to empower caregivers and enhance children's development. A dedicated professional and a mother, she is committed to fostering lasting positive change in the lives of families.
